

Hi!

A lot of controversy is beginning to stir around the country with the President's scheduled message to school children this coming Tuesday, 9/8/09, at Noon. Many feel this is being politically motivated or that the language and message will not be developmentally appropriate for all grades. In light of the PRSD values of Respect, Integrity, Responsibility, and Opportunity, and to ensure that we provide the best possible instruction to our students by previewing materials that are used in school, we plan to tape the address and have it reviewed by administrative personnel to determine the instructional appropriateness of the material. It will be determined to either allow the showing of it with parental notice for certain grade levels, placed on our website so people may choose if they wish to review it, or determined not to be used within our instructional program.

Thanks.....Paul A. Livingston – Supt. of Schools
